Technical Work to be Provided By:

Amanda McPhee

Where possible, we advise that you should use scripts provided with your authoring product. In addition, we do not provide web design and development services (this is something that you are required to do yourself).

Where you require additional scripts and/or technologies, please fill out the form below so we can determine how we will be able to address your needs.

Please be aware that the development of technical solutions does require resources and can be a time-consuming process. We therefore ask you to minimise the technical requirement to baseline functionality. Additional functionality may be applied for at a later date.

Technical Requirements

Please define the additional functionality that you require, and the type of technology (e.g. script) that may be required.

Functionality (e.g. gallery)	Technology Required

We will assess your request, and determine the technical feasibility before accepting any work. We will consult with you to advise you of any technical constraints and limitations prior to adopting the work.
